RUG INFORMATION

TYPES OF RUGS

HAND KNOTTED

Hand knotting is the most labor-intensive of rug constructions. In the hands of master weavers, this technique can produce works of art unparalleled in detail and beauty. In a knotted rug, tiny threads are tied onto the warp, creating the pattern or design. The weft threads anchor and align the rows of knots. When the knots are later cut, they stand away from the warp/weft backing to create the velvety pile of the finished piece. The density of the pile is determined by how tightly the knots are packed together. There are a variety of actual knot styles, among which are Persian, Turkish, and Tibetan knots.

In Tibet, native weavers developed a distinctive method long ago of weaving woven on a vertical loom. A Tibetan knot is made when a metal rod is inserted into to the cotton foundation (warp and weft threads) during the knotting process. The two warp threads are at different positions around the weaving rod, and the threads are knotted form left to right.
When the row of knotting is completed, the knots are cut off the metal rod. This creates a surface texture in the pile with the signature horizontal striations that identify "Tibetan weave" to connoisseurs all world over. The most common Tibetan knotted rugs are in 60, 80, or 100 knots per square inch. The higher the knot count, the thinner the carpet. This type of weaving is indicative of tribal and modern designs.

HAND TUFTED

Hand-tufted rugs and hand-hooked rugs are produced with a tufting gun. Working much like an oversized sewing needle, the gun pushes and pulls threads of yarn through a scrim - a pre-woven grid foundation. With a hooked rug, the loops of yarn are left intact to form a characteristically "knobby" pile. In a tufted rug, the tops of loops are sheared to expose the thread ends for a softer and plusher pile.

HAND WOVEN

A flat-weave rug is constructed without a pile. Here, colored weft yarns are woven through the warps to create the pattern. There are numerous varieties of flat weaves: kilims, dhurries, and soumaks, to name a few.

A split-weave kilim is constructed when colored weft yarns are woven through the warps to create the pattern and the thread is pulled through the warp only as far as the pattern and color dictate. Then the thread is turned back on itself to go the direction in which it came, finishing the same side on which it started. Different colored threads meet but do not join, creating the design.

Nourison's patented Nourmak technique uses a warp-wrapping process, in which a weft thread is drawn over two to four warps, then back under half of them, repeatedly. The technique produces a herringbonelike effect across the back of the rug. The face of the rug is knotted to replicate worn, antique Persian rug where there is no pile. These rugs also have a hidden weft inserted after every other row.

LOOM WOVEN

Nourison's loom-woven rugs are made on state-of-the-art looms, which have been customized to weave exceptional quality products with a feel and suppleness that rivals handmade rugs. These loom-woven pieces are then hand washed and hand finished, utilizing time-honored techniques, to accentuate the beauty of each individual rug. Loom-woven rugs from Nourison have the texture, look, and feel of a high-quality handmade piece without the high cost normally associated with handmade rugs.

POWER LOOM

Early power looms enabled rug makers to produce floor coverings at a much faster rate than anything woven by hand. Though these early machine made rugs were by no means as detailed as those done by an artisan's hands, they brought affordability and accessibility to a much larger market. Since the initial development of the power loom, manufacturers have strived to re-create the look of a fine handmade carpet with varying degrees of success. When purchasing a powerloomed rug, remember, it's not just about price!

Most important is that your rug is constructed of quality materials, like wool, natural fibers, or lasting synthetics dense enough to ensure-not only that the product lasts-but that it wears beautifully. Hand finishing or carving, featured in many Nourison power-loomed rugs, are sure signs of quality. A finely power-loomed rug is superior in detail and durability to one that is poorly handmade. Nourison's power-loomed rugs are woven on state-of-the-art Wilton looms, known for their ability to produce incredibly intricate designs and superiorly blended colors. These electronically-driven looms also produce two rugs simultaneously, which are then cut apart, known as face-to-face weaving.

SUGGESTED CLEANING AND CARE

- Vacuum regularly.
- Pile shedding is a normal characteristic of quality area rugs.
- Avoid use of beater-bar type vacuum as they may cause yarns to pull or snag.
- If this happens, avoid pulling yarn knots out of surface pile.
- Clean spills immediately by blotting with a clean sponge or cloth.
- Always use a professional cleaning service. Consumer self-cleaning methods are discouraged.
- Rug padding is recommended.

Hair on Hide

Leather
Cowhide
Suede Leather

- Natural skin rugs are not recommended for high-traffic areas.
- Vacuum regularly on the lowest setting. Vacuums with beater bars are not recommended.
- Clean spills immediately by wiping smoothly in the direction of the hair with a damp (but not wet) cloth, using mild soap and water.
- Always use a professional cleaning service. Consumer self-cleaning methods are discouraged.
- Rug Padding is recommended.

Jute

Sisal

- Do not steam clean or wet shampoo your jute rug. Plant fibers are highly absorbent, so they are subject to some shrinking and puckering when exposed to liquids or excessive dampness.
- Always use a professional cleaning service. Consumer self-cleaning methods are discouraged.
- Rug Padding is recommended.

Viscose

Luxcelle ${ }^{\text {TM }}$
Bamboo-extruded Silk-like Fibers

- Vacuum regularly. Vacuums with beater bars are not recommended.
- Avoid pulling yarn knots out of surface pile.
- Always use a professional cleaning service. Consumer self-cleaning methods are discouraged. Carpet can easily stain and yellow with improper cleaning chemicals.
- For spills, blot the affected area with white paper towels or a clean white terry cloth towel. Moisture will weaken the fiber, and rubbing could then cause breaking or damage.
- After blotting stains, groom by combing the face of the rug in the direction of the pile with a soft brush. The pile may look flatter and more reflective afterward.
- Once dry, re-brush the fiber to regain original texture.
- Rug padding is recommended.
